LET'S VOTE BY NOVEMBER 3!

by Councilman Arden Kucate

On Sept. 29th, Dr. Rebecca Bak and I spoke on KSHI Radio about the importance of voting in the upcoming national election.

Dr. Bak spoke about the multiple ways to vote. One option, if you have access to the Internet, is to visit www.nmvote.org, where you can register to vote. If you are already registered, you can request an absentee ballot. There is also an in-person voter registration site in Gallup. Local Zuni Census workers are also able to register people to vote and can check if people are already registered to vote. All that is needed to check on voter registration status is your name and date of birth. Voter registration will be closing on October 6th, so it is very important to make sure to register to vote in the November 3rd election.

Dr. Bak spoke about the history of the right to vote. Women weren’t given the right to vote until 1920. Native Americans in New Mexico weren’t given the right to vote until 1948. Native Americans have fought for their right to vote. It took the effort of Miguel Trujillo, a World War II veteran from Isleta.

Tribes Celebrate Mesa Verde Repatriation

Mesa Verde, Colorado – On Sunday, a coalition of tribes including the Hopi Tribe, the Pueblo of Acoma, the Pueblo of Zia, and the Pueblo of Zuni, repatriated and reinterred ancestors and associated funerary items at Mesa Verde National Park. The National Museum of Finland repatriated the human remains of 20 ancestors pursuant to a joint-agreement with these four sovereign tribes who claim cultural affiliation with the Mesa Verde area. The United States Department of State and the United States Embassy in Finland assisted the tribes in transporting the ancestors and funerary items from Helsinki, Finland to Mesa Verde.

In 1891, scholar Gustaf Nordenskiöld, of Finnish and Swedish descent, took hundreds of dwelling site finds, including ancestors and funerary items, from the Mesa Verde region and sent them to Stockholm, Sweden. He was initially arrested for exporting these remains and artifacts, but was later released, as no U.S. laws at the time prohibited such action. In Stockholm, the collection was sold to a Finnish doctor who later bequeathed the collection to the nation of Finland. Following his death, the collection was ultimately placed in the National Museum of Finland in Helsinki.

The history of this incident swayed public perception in the United States in favor of the importance of protecting cultural heritage resources, and ultimately helped lead to both the 1906 Antiquities Act and the establishment of Mesa Verde National Park.

Following contacts with the Hopi Cultural Preservation Office in 2016, the National Museum of Finland conducted a re-inventory of the 614 items in the collection, with special attention to identification of the ancestral remains and funerary items. This inventory, completed in March of 2018, found that the collection contained remains of 20 individuals and 28 funerary items.

In July, 2018, the U.S. Department of State sponsored an International Visitors Leadership Program to build relationships between Native American tribes and European Museums. As part of this program, Heli Lahdentausa, Curator of the National Museum of Finland, met with representatives from the Hopi Tribe and visited a range of cultural institutions in New Mexico. Following this visit, the Republic of Finland notified the U.S. Embassy in Helsinki that it would consider an official request for repatriation of human remains and funerary items.

Thereafter, in 2018, the Mesa Verde Native American Tribal Consultation Committee determined by consensus that the Hopi, Acoma, Zia, and Zuni tribes would take the lead in the effort to see the ancestors returned home. The U.S. request was made in the fall of 2018, followed by the unanimous passage of a resolution by the Hopi Tribal Council in July 2019 in support of the repatriation efforts. The All Pueblo Council of Governors, representing the 19 Pueblos in New Mexico and 1 in Texas, passed a parallel resolution in July of 2019.

In October, 2019, during a meeting between President Donald Trump and President Sauli Niinistö of Finland, it was announced that Finland had agreed to return the ancestors and their funerary items. In August, 2020, the National Museum of Finland and the four tribes entered into an agreement for the repatriation of the 20 ancestors and the 28 funerary items.

On Saturday, September 12, 2020, representatives from the Hopi, Acoma, Zia, and Zuni tribes received the ancestors in Durango, Colorado. The following morning, after nearly 129 years abroad, the ancestors were finally reinterred to their home in Mesa Verde.

The Hopi, Acoma, Zia, and Zuni tribes share ancestral ties to the original Ancestral Pueblo inhabitants of the Mesa Verde region, and continue to express their gratitude to the Republic of Finland, the National Museum of Finland, the United States, the U.S. Department of State, and to other tribes and partners, for their assistance in this important endeavor to right a historic wrong.

Leaders of the repatriating tribes stated:

“The Hopi People are thankful to everyone involved in ensuring our ancestors were returned to their rightful home, and are afforded the respect all human people deserve – being allowed to rest in peace,” said Hopi Vice Chairman Clark W. Tenakhongva. “The act of returning home has special significance in Hopi culture, for the return of our family both past and present is something to be celebrated. It is my hope that this event will serve as an example for other institutions in the world to follow, in how to build genuine cross-cultural understanding between people. Kwakwhá.”

“The Pueblo of Acoma is grateful for the return of ancestors to their place of rest, the sacred homeland of Mesa Verde. For decades, the repatriating tribes have worked to return ancestors, associated funerary materials, and items of cultural patrimony excavated from various locations within Mesa Verde. Many of these collections remain in museums awaiting review and discussion between culturally affiliated tribes and museums either through the federal Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act (NAGPRA) process or other methods where private institutions or foreign entities are concerned. This engagement, which evolved between the Finnish government, the National Museum of Finland, the four repatriating tribes, and United States officials, ensured a safe and culturally-appropriate process for the return of ancestors and funerary items. It is our hope that comparable institutions throughout the world who have similar collections will become motivated to engage in this level of nation-to-nation collaboration that results in repatriation and long-term partnerships, fostering dialogue and joint strategies for access to collections, stewardship, and programming.” Governor Brian D. Vallo – Pueblo of Acoma

“Our hearts are happy that our ancestors have made their journey home and are at rest where they belong. We are thankful to the Finnish government and the National Museum of Finland and are pleased to have forged this new relationship. The Pueblo looks forward to continue to work with the National Museum of Finland to repatriate all items of cultural value and historical importance to their rightful owners.” Governor Fredrick Medina – Pueblo of Zia

“The Pueblo of Zuni joins the Hopi Tribe, Pueblo of Acoma, and Pueblo of Zia, in expressing our heartfelt appreciation to the leaders of Finland in the return of our ancestors to Mesa Verde. As their descendants, the A:shiwi continue to practice the shared Puebloan values and ways of life to this day. Even as modern day boundaries and jurisdictions disrupt our dedication, through our age-old prayers, we have realized this event. In doing so, we honor their vision and intent to share resources, blood, and resiliency. Elahkwa.” Governor Val R. Panteah, Sr. – Pueblo of Zuni teach students about local food, nutrition, and agriculture.

In celebration of NM Grown Week, ZPSD would like to highlight the efforts we have made as part of Farm to School. Since 2017, ZPSD has been collaborating with the Zuni BIA to operate our Lu’cha Greenhouse and garden behind the BIA complex. An exciting aspect of the greenhouse is that it’s irrigated using rainwater harvested from the BIA Program roof.

With the help of students from Twin Buttes Cyber Academy and ZYEP Summer Campers, ZPSD was able to grow lettuce, spinach, tomatoes, squash, onions and other produce to serve at all school sites.

As a result of all these efforts, Zuni Public Schools won the 2019 Farm to School of the Year Award at the New Mexico State Capitol in Santa Fe!

The people who came before us fought for our right to vote. We must continue that fight and make our voices heard. We have to vote in the upcoming election. So many things are decided by how people vote and by how many people vote. The future of our children, grandchildren, and future generations of Zuni people to come depend on what we do right now. Our votes impact representation of our people by State legislators and members of Congress. Their recognition and understanding that Zuni people are voting in greater numbers influences them to support our community interests and needs, including Medicare, housing, and education.

Zuni’s early-voting option will be available from October 17th to the 31st, from 9 am to 5 pm at the Adobe Learning Center, across from the Tribal Building. Dr. Bak and I will be continuing the conversation in upcoming radio shows. Keep an ear out for the date and time of the next radio show. It is important that we all keep informed about the upcoming election and the census, and to participate in both to make our voices heard.

As always, if you have any questions, you may contact me at 505-697-9743 or at Arden.Kucate@ashiwi.org.
